ABEL EQUIPMENT

Welcome to the Abel Equipment website

We manufacture mainly Block machine mould sets and handling equipment for concrete bricks, blocks and paver production.

What was started in the 1980's as a brick making plant, has evolved into the manufacturing of engineered products for the cement brick industry. In the 27 years of manufacturing concrete products, At van der Merwe a qualified mechanical engineer, frustrated by the limitations of the equipment available at the time, decided to design and build various components for his brick making plant. It is from these development experiences in the brick industry that we manufacture the products which are practical and economical to use.

In the forward looking traditions of a family enterprise, Abel Equipment was established in 2002. Led by the father-and-son team, At and Jaco Van Der Merwe, competent and trained staff are producing products of first class quality and the highest dependability.

Satisfied clients are proof of the quality and scope of Abel Equipment's relationship with the concrete building component industry.
